

BORROWED TIME

Movement XI Sisters

We pulled each other's hair and cried,
fought over dolls and who was right.
You bit, I scratched – it wasn't fair,
but love was always hidden there.

We've grown, we've changed, we've gone our ways,
but you're my sister all my days.
If you need love, just knock my door
you've got my heart, forevermore.
We shared a room, we slammed the doors,
we swore we'd leave and be no more.
But every storm we ever braved
was just a bond we never gave.

When the silence is too loud,
when your head is full of doubt
call my name, I'll light the dark,
you've always lived inside my heart.

We've grown, we've changed, we've gone our ways,
but you're my sister all my days.
If you need love, just knock my door
you've got my heart, forevermore.

Now we have lives we built from scratch,
our own careers, a perfect match.
But if the world falls down on you,
you know I'd give my soul for you.
When the silence is too loud,
When your head is full of doubt
call my name, I'll light the dark,
you've always lived inside my heart.

We've grown, we've changed, we've gone our ways,
but you're my sister all my days.
If you need love, just knock my door
you've got my heart, forevermore.