

BORROWED TIME

Movement XVI Chosen

From the moment I held you in my arms,
I knew my heart was free from harm.
No greater love than this I've known,
a bond so pure, I'm not alone.

I'll love you beyond what words can say,
through every storm, come what may.
Not bound by blood, but by the soul,
my love for you will make you whole.

It matters not where you were born,
you are my child, forever sworn.
No labels here, no need to claim,
you're mine in heart, not just in name.

Your smile, your laugh, the way you grow,
a love so deep, it overflows.
Not even time can dim this light,
you're my world, my guiding sight.

I'll love you beyond what words can say,
through every storm, come what may.
Not bound by blood, but by the soul,
my love for you will make you whole.

Through sleepless nights, and endless care,
I'll be the hand to always share.
No love is stronger, no bond so true,
for I will always stand by you.

You don't have to ask, you'll never doubt,
In every tear, I'll help you out.
Whether by birth or chosen name,
my love for you will stay the same.

I'll love you beyond what words can say,
Through every storm, come what may.
Not bound by blood, but by the soul,
My love for you will make you whole.